TERMS OF USE:

This technical manual is designed to allow an architect or specifier to use Major's daylighting system in their projects. Thus, you may extract drawings, specifications, and details for use in your projects, and you may distribute these materials as necessary in association with the project. However, Major Industries still retains exclusive copyright to their materials; we only grant rights to use the materials in association with projects or project proposals. Any other use, including distribution, modification, storage, or dissemination to third parties unrelated to the project is strictly prohibited.
